Barack Obama addresses the Democratic National Convention in Philadelphia, July 27, 2016.

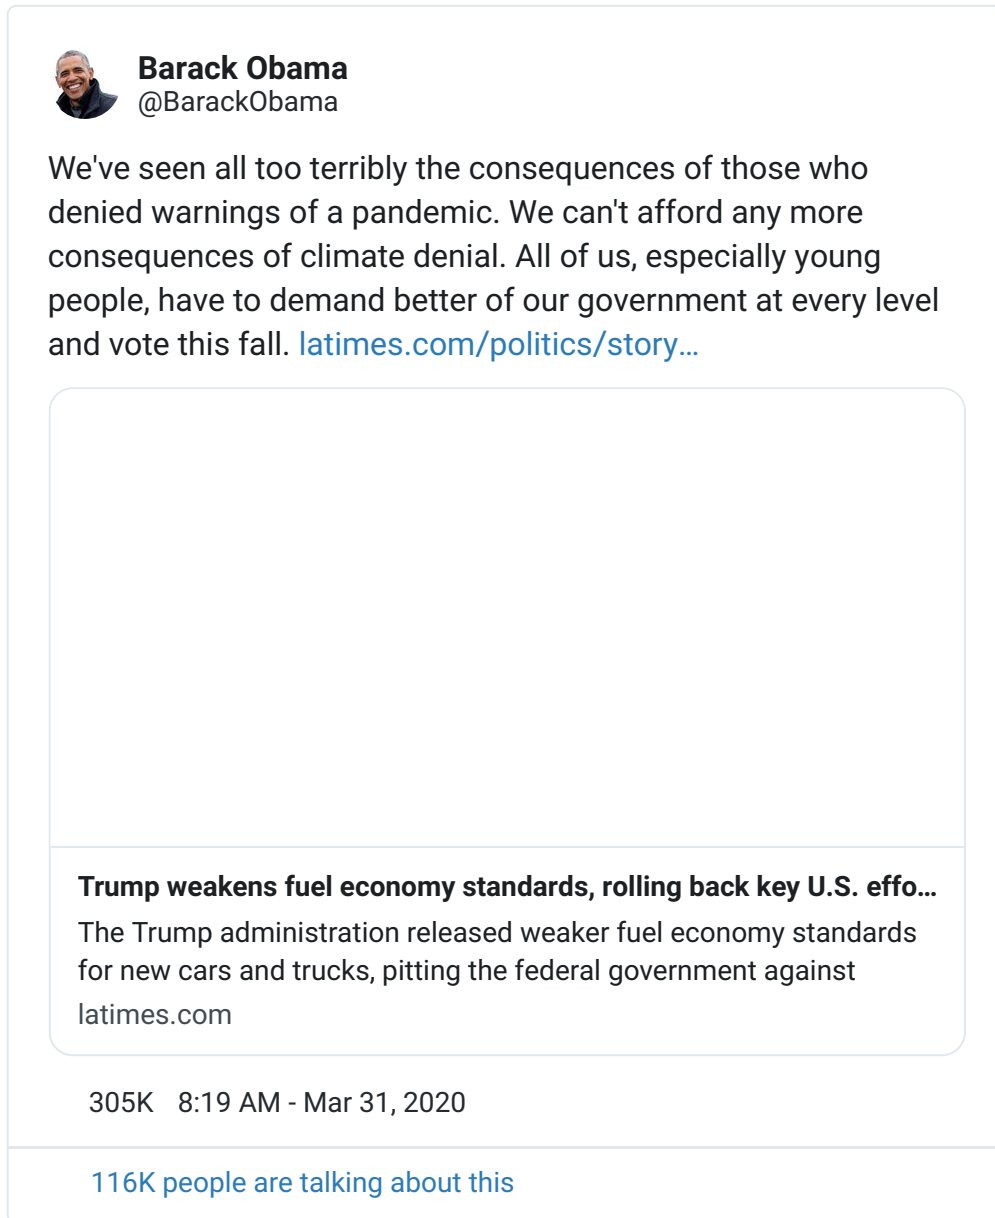

Former President Barack Obama dropped a political bombshell about coronavirus on Tuesday, claiming the global pandemic a result of denials about so-called man-made climate change.

"We've seen all too terribly the consequences of those who denied warnings of a pandemic," Obama tweeted.

"We can't afford any more consequences of climate denial."

Obama also urged people to use this pandemic as another reason to vote in the upcoming election.

"All of us, especially young people, have to demand better of our government at every level and vote this fall," Obama concluded.

We can't afford any more consequences of climate denial. All of us, especially young people, have to demand better of our government at every level and vote this fall. latimes.com/politics/story..." Below the text is a large empty rectangular box. Underneath that box is a link preview for an article titled "Trump weakens fuel economy standards, rolling back key U.S. effo..." with a subtext: "The Trump administration released weaker fuel economy standards for new cars and trucks, pitting the federal government against latimes.com". At the bottom of the tweet, it shows "305K 8:19 AM - Mar 31, 2020" and "116K people are talking about this".

"Who denied the warnings of a pandemic?" Asked Limbaugh. "Trump didn't deny the warnings of a pandemic. The Democrats did! Pelosi! There are pictures of Pelosi in Chinatown, in San Francisco, urging people to come out."

"In all of this, Obama's worried about climate change, which is something that we can't control no matter what we do.," he continued.

"We didn't cause it and we cannot stop it. It's the weather. People that tell you it isn't the weather are lying to you because they tell us that increased hurricanes are climate change. Did we create hurricanes? Can we start one when we want it? Can we change the direction of one when it happens? Can we change the strength? No!

We can't change the squall line of thunderstorms. We can't make it cooler when it's sweltering. We can't warm it up when it's freezing. We don't have this kind of power, and here come these guys now claiming that we are destroying the climate -- the United States specifically is destroying the climate -- and now it's created this virus."

Limbaugh called Obama "irresponsible" for the tweet, lamenting how "climate change is somehow a more pressing issue than what is destroying the U.S. economy. ... We are letting this destruction of the U.S. economy happen."

Obama's remarks also sparked a wide variety of reactions on Twitter, including:

- "Thank you Mr. President for your steadfastness and voice of reason during perilous times. You are correct, the denial of warnings of a pandemic has had catastrophic consequences, among them, sickness and death. Blood is on the hands of the POTUS and his inept administration."
- "Donald Trump knew in January dangers of Coronavirus. Didn't buy, produce mass tests. Didn't push social distancing until mid-March. Used microphone to distort, distract severity of COVID19 to flu. Continues to lie about treatments; over factual, medical and scientific information."
- "Don't use this opportunity to promote your Climate Change BS, the experts were all wrong on Covid-19 doomsday just like they were wrong about Climate Change doomsday."
- "Wow!!!! You really have short term memory loss. 2009, H1N1, over 1,000,000 cases in the first 3 months. Over 12,000 deaths in the U.S. Another career politician placing blame and their failures on a person in politics for 3 years."

Dear WND Reader,

As America's political and culture wars rage, another battle is taking place in the news media.

Google, Facebook and the rest of Big Tech blatantly suppress Christian-conservative content while vacuuming up 90% of the advertising that once supported online news. It's a tough time for truth-oriented journalism.

WND, the nation's oldest independent news site and largest Christian website, is a rare combination of experienced professional journalists AND strong Judeo-Christian worldview. And we know most Americans—often portrayed as "ignorant hicks" and "bigots" living in flyover country—share our pro-American values and want real news, accurate information and insightful analysis on today's crucial issues.

That's what WND has delivered since 1997, all for free—no paywalls—an increasing rarity in the online news world.

Instead, we rely on the voluntary contributions of appreciative readers like you—now more than ever.
